ALEX BREWER PUT CITY IN A HOLE

Official Records in State Engineer's Office Show That Brewer's Administration Deliberately Cancelled the Cobble Creek Water Filling Previously Made by Ogden City—Long After Brewer Abandoned the Site, Glasmann Filed on the Same Place—Some Pointed Questions for Buttinsky Brewer to Answer—How Mr. Glasmann Got a Vote of Thanks.

One of the leading business men of Ogden stepped into the Standard office this morning and said: "I see the sheet owned by the whisky trust objects to the officials of Ogden City holding a confidential interview with the ex-mayor. Why don't you tell that outfit to go to the hot place?"

Another business man said, "How in the world can two men get together if they cannot talk it over without newspaper reporters butting in?"

An ex-city councilman telephoned to the Standard and said, "I see Alex Brewer is sticking his nose into your affairs again by telling the Examiner that Mr. Glasmann has no rights in the South Fork canyon. Why don't you tell the people of Ogden that it was Brewer who, as mayor of Ogden, relinquished, cancelled and abandoned the city's rights at Cobble Creek? I personally looked up the records of the state engineer and found that Mayor Brewer and his administration had cancelled the Cobble Creek filling and moved it to Magpie, almost two miles farther west, and that Alex Brewer, and he alone, lost to Ogden City $150,000, just what the Cobble Creek site is worth today, because it has the bedrock to hold the dam."

The ex-councilman is right, too. It was Mayor Brewer who caused the city's rights to be moved from the Cobble Creek site to the Magpie site, and but for Brewer's action, the city would today be the absolute owner of the Cobble Creek filling. Yet this man who bungled up the city's water filling and lost to Ogden City its right to build at the Cobble Creek site, sticks his nose into other people's affairs and even wants to dictate to Ogden City, whose interest he betrays. What is the matter with Brewer? Why, he can't forget that William Glasmann beat him for mayor of Ogden. It is personal spite with him. This is all that is behind the fight against the South Fork Reservoir company. If anybody, except Mr. Glasmann, were building the dam the whole outfit now fighting would not have a word to say against the enterprise.

Why did Brewer cancel the Magpie filling? He owned an interest in the land around the Cobble Creek site, a half interest, it is said, in about 1,300 acres. Did Brewer want to get possession of the city's rights? Was that why he moved the city's filling? Let him answer.

The Standard offers him space to answer why he cancelled the Cobble Creek filling and why he is kicking because Mr. Glasmann took what he deliberately threw away.

Mr. Glasmann is called up on the phone, people stop him on the street, and wherever he goes he is congratulated on the stand he is taking in pushing the reservoir. "Let knockers howl," is an hourly greeting.

A leading banker of Ogden said, "It is all tomfoolery to try to make the people believe that Mr. Glasmann has no rights in the South Fork canyon. No one can take the city's rights because the constitution of Utah says cities can't lose, sell or give away their water rights. So, if Mr. Glasmann fences in or impounds the city water, the city can take it away any time, but anybody with a brain as big as a mustard seed knows there is water enough running to waste in the Ogden river nine months in the year to give Ogden and several good reservoirs all the water that is needed."

Another banker said, "The curse of this town is its fool newspaper that thinks it is its duty to fight Mr. Glasmann. Look back over the last 20 years. Mr. Glasmann always trying to do something for Ogden and the opposition paper always fighting him in whatever he undertakes."

"Yes," said a tax payer who overheard the remarks, "I remember when Glasmann was securing subscribers for the sugar factory. The opposition sheet was whining because the Weber club made Glasmann chairman of the committee. The Standard did nothing but talk sugar for 30 days at a time. It was charged that Glasmann was getting a big graft out of the sugar factory. When it was all over, the money all subscribed, Glasmann got his 'graft' in the shape of a vote of thanks by a unanimous vote of all the stockholders."

"Yes," said the banker, "all Ogden will yet thank him for the big reservoir."

ON TRAIL OF REMNEE

Detectives After Man Who Beat Woman to Death in Hotel

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Detectives departed for Detroit today on the trail of George Remnee, believed to have been the companion of a woman who was fatally beaten in a room at the Saratoga hotel last night. The police departments of several Michigan towns were notified to be on the lookout for Remnee. He is described as being about 40 years old and weighs about 200 pounds.

The police description of the victim sent to other cities was: About 45 to 50 years old; about five feet six inches tall; weight 135 to 145 pounds; blue eyes, brown hair, mixed with gray, prominent nose, large nostrils; two teeth in upper left jaw missing; eye tooth in upper right jaw and several back teeth missing; smooth face and high cheek bones; hands soft and freckled.

Marked Passages in Bible. Among the articles in the room where the woman was found was a Bible with a number of marked passages which were given close scrutiny by the detectives. Among them were "and thine eye shall not pity, but life shall go for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot."

On the fly-leaf of the Bible were the words:

"If you love the Lord read marked passages in Numbers and Deuteronomy, also Leviticus. Guest."

Detectives found the following marked verse:

"Now, therefore, kill every male among the little ones and kill every woman that hath known man."

Other passages touching on violence were marked in the Bible and all were noted by the detectives on the theory that the assailant may have been a religious fanatic.

DAMAGES ARE ASKED BY A COMPANY

The Lindsay Land & Live Stock company of this city has commenced civil proceedings against the Oregon Short Line company to recover $300 alleged damages for the killing of twenty-eight sheep and the maiming of 100 others at Corinne November 9 of this year.

The sheep were ewes three years old and it is said that the defendant company was responsible for the killing and maiming of the sheep, according to the complaint. It is alleged that, without warning, the agents of the company operated a train of cars in a careless manner and ran down a herd of sheep of about 2,600 head which was crossing the defendant company's railroad track.

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS ARE PAID OUT

During the morning and up to a late hour this afternoon there have been many beet growers in the city receiving their checks for beets raised this year. The office of the Amalgamated Sugar company has been a busy place and likewise has the county treasurer's office, where farmers have been paying their taxes.

The amount due the beet growers at this pay day is $175,000, and it is estimated that a little more than $100,000 of the sum was paid during the day. The balance will be paid tomorrow.

The checks were made out a few days ago and were arranged in large holders alphabetically so that as each farmer appeared at the paying teller's window he gave the name and the check with the account of the number of tons of beets delivered to the factory was rapidly obtained.
